Khrush To Keep Berlin On Ice

Tells Austrians He Expects Deal With New U.S. President

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Austrian leaders said Friday night Nikita Khrushchev has informed them privately he intends to keep the Berlin problem on ice until after a new U.S. president takes office in January.

But they said the Soviet leader indicated that he expects whoever succeeds President Eisenhower to negotiate a deal with him about the future of Berlin, a Western outpost 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Khrushchev told of his plans, informants said, in private talks with Vice Chancellor Bruno Pittermann and Foreign Minister Bruno Kreisky, both members of Austria's Social Democratic party.

Khrushchev earlier got the cheers he was waiting for when he went into Vienna's strongest Communist district for some handshaking and backslapping.

Comes At Reception
The word on the Soviet Premier's Berlin thinking came at a glittering reception given at Schoenbrunn Castle.

Since the mid-May Paris Summit breakup Khrushchev has indicated he feels he cannot negotiate with Eisenhower because of the U2 plane incident.

Earlier this week the Russians pulled out of the 10-nation disarmament conference in Geneva.

While Khrushchev was closeted with Austrian leaders rumors spread that the Soviets also were getting ready to abandon the Geneva three-power talks on suspension of nuclear weapons tests.

There was no confirmation of such a Soviet move, however. Some quarters tended to discount the rumors on grounds that the Russians are willing to allow the nuclear talks to go on so long as neither the United States nor Britain conducts a new series of nuclear tests.

Warmest Welcome
The cheers Khrushchev got earlier in the day made up for the warmest welcome he has so far received on his Austrian visit.

The Premier—his face creased in a broad grin—milled about happily with some 3,000 overall clad workers who gave him a noisy welcome at the Fiat automobile plant.

Speaking in the factory yard, he bragged that the Soviet Union would surpass the United States in production in 10 years time. He also got in some digs about spy-plane flights. But there was no name calling.

Khrushchev was in an expansive mood. The whole day went better for him than Thursday, when the Viennese greeted his arrival with cold reserve. In the center of town, full of business people, shoppers and tourists, there was still comparatively little interest in the Soviet leader.

Khrushchev did all he could to pep up things on this second day of his nine-day state visit to Austria. He gave his security guards the slip and walked through the fashionable streets of this old Danube city causing confusion.

He joked his way through 70 minutes of economic talks with Austrian government leaders. He lingered over lunch with Chancellor Julius Raab before rushing off to speak to Austria's business leaders.

Kishi Party Wins Japan Elections

Conservatives Hail Victory As Proof Of U.S. Support

TOKYO (AP)—Premier Nobusuke Kishi's Liberal-Democrat party handily won a provincial election Friday in which Socialists had hoped to demonstrate the depth of opposition to the new U.S.-Japanese security treaty.

Conservatives hailed the victory as proof of rice-roots support for military alliance with America. It was the first balloting since the treaty, authorizing U.S. bases in Japan for at least another decade, became effective.

Proves Support
Shojiro Kawashima, secretary-general of Kishi's party, told reporters the re-election of Aomori prefecture's Liberal-Democratic governor "proves that the Japanese people support the security treaty."

Gov. Iwao Yamazaki beat a Socialist who had told the district's farmers and fishermen a vote for Yamazaki was a vote for the treaty, for Kishi, and possibly for war.

The final semi-official result was 295,198 for Yamazaki and 186,263 for Socialist Yuza Awaya.

While Japanese flocked to the polls in Aomori, 350 miles north of Tokyo, Kishi's government handed a blistering note to the Soviet Union that overwhelmingly endorsed the new treaty, sharply rejected neutrality, and accused the U.S.S.R. of meddling in Japanese affairs.

Rejects Protests
Foreign Minister Aichihiro Fujiyama summoned Soviet Ambassador Nicolai T. Redorenko to receive the note—a one-package rejection of three Soviet protests against the treaty.

U.S. bases in Japan are "necessary for securing the safety of the nation and contributing to world peace," the note said, and added that the Soviet antitreaty campaign was filled with "wilful misinterpretation, one-sided and dogmatic views" and slander.

Mob Gathers In Rape Case

LEOMINSTER, Mass. (UPI)—An outraged crowd of 1,500 shouted "lynch them" Friday as a gang of 10 suspects was brought under heavy guard for a court hearing on mass rape charges involving a 19-year-old girl.

Eight of the 10, plus two juveniles, were charged with dragging the screaming girl from a car where she was parked with her 20-year-old boy friend last Friday. The girl was raped repeatedly and the couple was driven around for 3½ hours in the escort's car before they were released.

Each of the eight is charged with raping and kidnapping the girl and robbing her escort of a few dollars. Two of the suspects, were held on accessory charges.

Held in total bail of $670,000, the suspects, aged 17 to 29, were brought from Worcester County jail for the hearing on a total of 32 counts. The case was continued at the end of a day-long hearing until Tuesday to determine whether the suspects should be held for grand jury action.

Titan Fails At Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The first operational prototype of the intercontinental-range Titan veered sharply out of control and was destroyed about 300 feet above its launching pad Friday. The fiery explosion ended a string of six straight successful flights for the Titan program, which has made tremendous strides since being delayed by a series of mishaps late last year.

The 98-foot giant, powered by a modified engine, rumbled skyward at 12:29 p.m. on the start of an intended 5,000-mile flight. It was apparent almost immediately that something was wrong. The missile rose unsteadily, lurched violently to the left and nosed over.

Cuba Seizes Oil Refineries

Castro Now Has Problem Of Supply

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro Friday took over the last two foreign-owned oil refineries in Cuba and with them the problem of supplying his country with oil from distant fields in the Soviet Union.

He seized the Esso Standard Oil and the Shell oil refineries under resolutions accusing both firms of violating a 1938 law by refusing to process state-owned crude he obtained in a sugar-for-oil deal with Moscow.

The action immediately ended all normal imports of Western oil—except for a trickle of finished products—and raised prospects of an oil famine unless means are found to expand by at least four times the flow of Soviet crude.

Duplicates Move
Duplicating a move made two days ago at Santiago in seizing the 26-million-dollar properties of the American-owned Texaco refinery, Castro sent his agents into the Esso and Shell refineries.

They rode across the bay in barges filled with Soviet oil. Once processing of this crude was formally rejected, agents of the Cuban Petroleum Institute took over the plants with the backing of armed workers.

Value of the two installations was placed at more than a hundred million dollars. Additionally, Castro's government owes the three seized refineries an estimated 60 million dollars in foreign exchange for oil already imported and processed. Normally all of Cuba's oil came from Venezuela.

The refineries had anticipated Castro's action. His agents found less than a three-day supply of crude in the Shell storage tanks and even less at Esso. They immediately began to transfer Soviet crude from emergency storage to the two refineries. Cuban workers promised to continue their normal operation. Existing reserves of gasoline and other oil products in Cuba were expected to last from 10 to 30 days.

The Soviet Union contracted to supply about one-fourth of Cuba's daily crude oil requirements, 60,000 barrels.

Kremlin Promises Oil
Castro spokesmen said the Kremlin already has promised all the oil Cuba needs at prices below those paid Western importers. Castro has repeatedly said he can buy Soviet crude "a dollar a barrel" cheaper than Venezuelan.

Experts here said the average cost of Venezuelan crude processed in Cuba has been $2.80 per barrel, compared to a barter price of $2.10 a barrel for Soviet crude. The experts expressed doubt that the Soviet Union can find or spare the 20 to 25 huge tankers required to shuttle large quantities of crude to Cuba.

Castro associates said Mexico is ready to sell Cuba oil. Some suggested that other U.S. firms are bidding to supply crude.

Whatever the source, Castro needs oil quickly.

At this point the range safety officer pushed a button and a yellow ball of fire broke through the Titan's midsection. The shattered rocket plummeted to the ground some distance from the launch complex, sending a mass of red-orange flame and black smoke mushrooming into the sky. No members of the launch crew, in a concrete blockhouse 250 yards away, were endangered. There was no damage to facilities.

Right-Wing Party Collapses In W. Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany moved a step closer to a two-party political system Friday with collapse of the right-wing German party.

Nine of the 15 members of Parliament from the German party announced they were switching over to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic party.

This act removed the German party from representation in the Bundestag—lower house, leaving only the Christian Democrats and the two opposition groups, the Socialists and Free Democrats. Under parliamentary rules, a political group must have at least 15 members to be seated as a party.

The German party, which has been an Adenauer coalition ally, is a nationalistic grouping largely from the farming regions of the north German plain. Its tendencies are conservative.

What the remaining six members would do remained to be seen. The party's executive committee is to thrash out the problem at a conference Saturday in Hamburg.

Among the nine doing the turnabout were two of Adenauer's Cabinet members, Hans-Christoph Seebohm, the transportation minister, and Hans-Joachim von Merkatz, minister for relations with the Bundesrat—upper house.

The nine members who made the switch issued a declaration two hours after the Bundestag went on summer recess. They said they took the step because they were convinced the party could not play a major role in next year's federal elections and expressed belief they could pursue their policies better inside the Christian Democratic Union.

Force Totals 269,000

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany's military forces now total 269,000 men, the Defense Ministry reported Friday. This is 81,000 short of the planned level of 350,000, to be attained by the end of 1961.

Dog's Attempt To Swim English Channel Halted

HOVE, England (AP)—An Alsatian dog attempted to swim the English Channel Thursday night and was going nicely when police intervened. Bathing, doubting his ability, called police. Two constables in a rowboat finally caught up with the animal three miles offshore. They lassoed him and brought him back to await appearance of his owner.

Actress Slips, Hurt In Fall

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Actress Lucille Ball slipped and fell Friday preparing for a comedy scene with Bob Hope and suffered an apparent concussion, doctors said.

Miss Ball was knocked momentarily unconscious when she stumbled getting into a boat for a scene with Bob Hope in their movie, "The Facts of Life." The famed comedienne quickly regained consciousness but was carried from the set and taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for X-rays.

A hospital attendant said her condition was satisfactory. The accident occurred on the Desilu lot where she and ex-husband Desi Arnaz made their "I Love Lucy" television series.

Cameramen were preparing to shoot a comedy sequence involving only Hope and Miss Ball when the actress slipped. Witnesses said she apparently struck her head in the fall.

New Clue In Aviatrix' Disappearance Found

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new clue in the disappearance of aviatrix Amelia Earhart 23 years ago was turned up Friday.

A Columbia Broadcasting System correspondent reported that an airplane generator found on the bottom of a Saipan bay in the South Pacific appears to be the one that was on Miss Earhart's plane when her round-the-world flight failed in 1937.

Don Mozley broadcast the story of an expedition by a CBS news team and a reporter for the San Mateo, Calif., Times.

He said they had just returned from the island of Saipan, where they found at least a dozen natives who remembered seeing the Earhart plane crash land in the water. They said they watched Japanese take her to jail.

One native was quoted as saying he had been invited to wit-

North Dakota Vote Canvass Gets Underway

BISMARCK, N.D. (UPI)—Official canvasses Friday began the job of determining whether Democratic Rep. Quentin Burdick really won North Dakota's farm belt weathervane senatorial election.

Final unofficial returns from all of the state's 2,313 precincts showed Burdick winding up with a paper thin 851-vote lead. His total was 104,178 to 103,327 for Republican Gov. John Davis.

Burdick, already the first Democratic congressman in North Dakota's history, was flying home from a hero's welcome in Washington to a victory celebration in his home town of Fargo, N.D.

Among his North Dakota well-wishers was the Fargo widow Burdick wooed and won while conducting his cliff-hanger campaign. The 52-year-old congressman, a widower himself, revealed to Washington newsmen that he would marry Mrs. Jocelyn Peterson of Fargo next Thursday.

Mrs. Peterson was not talking to reporters at her Fargo home. Her fiancé described her as thirtyish, the mother of two children, and a Republican.

National Democratic leaders, including Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) and party Chairman Paul Butler, hailed Burdick's apparent victory as a farm belt revolt breaching one of the Republican Party's greatest strongholds.

GOP Solons Go Against Ike On Bill

Congress Enacts $746 Million Boost Despite Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under last-minute pressure, Congress Friday swept aside President Eisenhower's veto and enacted 746 million dollars a year in pay boosts for 1½ million federal workers.

It was only the second Eisenhower veto out of 169 to be overridden.

Most Republicans sided against the President, who called the bill indefensible and struck hard at what he said were flagrant political pressures for it.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty telephoned Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa., and then declared "this is the second time that pressure and pork barrel tactics" have prevailed.

Hagerty's statement alluded to Congress' action last year overturning his veto of a public works money bill, often called a pork barrel because it covers pet projects of many senators and House members.

To Continue Efforts

The statement pledged that Eisenhower "will continue unabated his efforts to further responsibility in government."

The House, acting first, voted 345-69 to override. Watching from the galleries was a throng of civil service workers and postal employees—including a bank of uniformed mailmen.

Then the federal worker spectators trooped over to the Senate where postal union representatives buttonholed senators.

After several hours of talk, the Senate completed the overriding action by a 74-24 vote.

In both House and Senate, the margin was comfortably more than the two-thirds majority required to override a veto—eight more in the Senate and 69 more in the House.

The bill gives about one million white collar civil service workers a 7½ per cent salary increase. Half a million postal employees get an average 8.4 per cent boost because of annual stepup provisions.

For individual workers, it means anywhere from $225 to $1,200 a year, depending on present pay scales. The raises take effect Friday for many of them.

Republicans Defected
In the Senate, 19 Republicans joined 55 Democrats in voting to override. Voting to sustain the President were 15 Republicans and 9 Democrats.

Most Republicans defected in the House, too.

A total of 89 Republicans deserted Eisenhower and joined 256 Democrats to furnish 69 votes more than the two-thirds majority needed. Standing by the President were 56 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

In vetoing the bill, Eisenhower used unusually sharp language to deplore what he said was "intensive and unceasing political pressure exerted flagrantly" on behalf of the pay raise.

The President aimed this strong criticism chiefly at people he said worked for the boost benefiting 535,000 postal workers. The measure also covers about one million employees in the general Civil Service.

Eisenhower condemned the pay raise legislation as "indefensible in any light." However, he said he would be willing to go along with what he called a modest increase.

Group Entertains, Recesses

The Cumberland LaVale Health Lay Group presented gifts to three guests at the farewell dinner given in honor of Miss Grace Hardman Thursday evening at Moon's Dining Room. One was given to Miss Patricia Malloy, who has resigned her position with the chest X-ray to go to Pennsylvania; one to Miss Hardman, who leaves for Fort Myers, Fla., after 27 years as a public health nurse; and one on behalf of the county group to Miss Mary Margaret Smith, who is retiring as president of the Allegany Lay Health Council.

It was decided to recess for the summer and resume regular meetings in September.

Roses were used in the table decorations and each person received a powder puff corsage, made by Mrs. Marguerite Schooley.

Other guests were Mrs. Jean Cioni and Miss Kay Linn Kelly, Utica, N.Y. Members present were Mrs. Naomi Evanson, Mrs. Mildred Hickie, Mrs. Schooley, Mrs. Mildred Allender, Mrs. Lee Heller, Mrs. Marjorie Nave, Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, Mrs. Mary Jane Tyree, Mrs. Clara Williamson, Mrs. Julia Sheehee, Mrs. Bertha Scollick and Mrs. Edith Cessna.

Pleasant Grove Plans Exhibit

Pleasant Grove Homemakers Club discussed plans for an exhibit at the Cumberland Fair, at the meeting conducted by Mrs. Sherman Weatherholt at the home of Mrs. Rhoda Clingerman, with Mrs. Samuel Clark cohostess. Routine reports and announcements were given. Mrs. Melvin Robinson reported on RWSC at College Park.

Taking things for granted was the topic for the devotion, by Mrs. Harry Wilson. The history of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World," was given by Mrs. Howard Perrin, and sung by the group with Mrs. Adolph Normie leading. Roll-call was answered with favorite types of music.

Mrs. Hattie Connors and Mrs. Lillian Smith will be hostesses for the July 19 meeting at the former's home.

Others present were Mrs. Willard Burchard, Mrs. Ralph Garland, Mrs. Leslie Hinkle, Mrs. Prentice McElfish, Miss Dorothy Northcraft, Mrs. Harry Northcraft, Mrs. John Twigg, and Mrs. Perry Wilson.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

The Scent Of Misery!

Personal daintiness is always a delicate matter to discuss, probably because it offends the senses of others long before the offender senses it herself. But the steps to perspiration-control always bear repeating, especially at the start of another long, hot summer — and most especially to those who work in close quarters with other people.

A good daily scrub-down, of course, removes the past grime that combines with perspiration to cause it to emit an odor. But your bath is only the beginning! After your bath, protect yourself for the whole day where you perspire most — underarms and feet.

If excessive perspiration is no particular problem, a simple deodorant, used daily, should check the formation of underarm odor. Feet stay dryer and sweeter if you wear fresh footware everyday . . . and you might dust a deodorizing antiseptic powder inside stockings and shoes.

If you perspire freely, you'll want an anti-perspirant under your arms, perhaps one that is combined with a deodorant. The anti-perspirant's aluminum salt base will contract underarm pores and divert your perspiration to other parts of your body.

Anti-perspirants should be used with care — and two or three times a week should be sufficient, even for the very active or highly emotional person. Allow two days between the removal of underarm hair and the application of the chemical. In the interval, use a simple deodorant, or powder, and dress-shields.

Dress-shields, by the way, are added coverage for you. Whether fixed or portable, they are quickly laundered between wearings. And while you wear them, you feel doubly-secure in guarding your dress, both from a ruining stain and from retaining odor.

This is vital. You see, your clothes can betray you in spite of all your deodorant bath soap, dusting powder, anti-perspirants and perfume. Stale odors buried in your garments revive with the warmth of your body. There is no fragrance the second time around, in cooking flavors, yesterday's cigarette smoke, last

Bridge Winners Announced

Hugo Keller and Norman W. Taylor with 111 topped the field in the charity master point game of the Western Maryland Bridge Association, Thursday evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Announcements were made at the work day of the sewing group of the Women's Missionary Society of Grace Baptist Church, Mrs. James Kirkpatrick presided and read the Scripture. Mrs. Melvin Grindie led the opening prayer.

The Women's Missionary Society and all its auxiliaries will hold a picnic and swimming party at Constitution Park July 12. It will be from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. Those attending are to bring a picnic lunch.

July 14, the Western District WMU will meet with a group at Mountain Lake Park church from 10:30 until 2 o'clock.

Under the leadership of Mrs. John Knowlton, community missions chairman, plans were formulated for a service at Sylvan Retreat. Officers gave their reports.

Preceding the meeting and luncheon the group rolled bandages, made sheets and prepared tray cards.

P.V. Club Discusses Donations

Members of the Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club were asked to decide if they favor raising funds for various local donations, and to select the club's demonstration for the fair. The Fair committee is to decide in the near future and the club will vote on donations at the next meeting.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Deremer, with Mrs. Marshal Deremer cohostess. Mrs. Edgar Repphann presided and announced that she intends to have someone to speak on "Music and Human Behavior."

The group recited the Lord's Prayer and read a quotation by Goethe's mother. Mrs. Robert Alstetter read a poem, "Home"; Mrs. Robert Deremer, the Scripture; Mrs. Carl Heber, a letter; and Mrs. Marshal Deremer, the history of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World." It was sung by the group. Each reported on the kind of music she prefers and a discussion followed.

Members were reminded of adult camp August 1-5 at Biting, Pa. Following the singing of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Ambrose Miltenberger, Pleasant Valley Road, July 12. Blue Cross dues will be collected.

The bureau of fisheries says the dolphin can outswim the fastest vessels.

THE INVITATION

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Galatians	5	13-14
Monday	Psalms	36	7-9
Tuesday	II Timothy	2	19
Wednesday	Psalms	107	28-31
Thursday	Ephesians	2	12-18
Friday	Luke	1	77-79
Saturday	Psalms	89	5-8

Everyone recognizes the great Lady standing in New York harbor holding her flaming torch. She welcomes the tired, the poor, the homeless, to this land of freedom. She symbolizes hope.

Back of the Lady, back of the welcome, stands the Church. The words on the statue do not mention the Church, and many of us do not realize the role it plays, but the Church inspired the principles on which our nation was built. It is the spirit of Christianity which extends the welcome to our shores and makes our nation a haven.

On the anniversary of our independence, we are proud of our freedom and opportunity and hope.

No statue with flaming torch stands at the door of the Church. But the Church is the real guardian of our heritage.

Strengthen your nation and yourself. Join the Church.

Pay Raises Asked For County Employees County Money Deposited In 2 Local Banks

A number of requests were received yesterday by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners from department heads for wage increases for some of their employees.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, asked the board that the announced $200 per year across-the-board increase for county employees be given to three staff members in his office. He listed Donald W. Mason, his assistant; Edwin R. Lally, county investigator; and Mrs. Eleanor Lloyd, secretary.

Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein wrote the board to ask that his five deputies be granted the $200 wage increase.

The employees in the state's attorney's office are not covered by Civil Service.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris wrote the board in regard to salary increases of three persons under his jurisdiction. They are Robert Thomas, court stenographer, $500; Mrs. Joan Bufke, law librarian and secretary, $200; and John Jeffries, probation officer in Juvenile Court, $200.

The commissioners ordered the letters filed.

Commissioner John T. Mason said he is not against a wage increase for various county employees but had voted against the $200 across-the-board increase voted by Commissioners John J. Rowan and William A.

Wilson several weeks ago. Mason said he wanted the action to await the result of a job classification survey being made for the county by the State Department of Employment Security.

Commissioner Wilson said he felt that the county workers such as the sheriff's deputies and state's attorney's office staff should receive the $200 increase.

Promotion Gets No Action

A request to upgrade the acting chief clerk in the County Roads Department is still up in the air after it was presented before the Board of Allegheny County Commissioners yesterday.

Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, asked the commissioners to act on a recommendation he had made March 15 in regard to John W. Brode.

Brode, who is in Grade 8 in Civil Service has been serving as acting chief clerk. His promotion would put him into Grade 6 and give him the permanent status of chief clerk.

However, the move failed, mainly due to the departmental separation of duties of each commissioner.

Board President John J. Rowan watches over the Doads Department; Commissioner William A. Wilson, the county institutions; and Commissioner John T. Mason, finances.

Janitor Appointed

Robert Groves, city, a former employee of the Cumberland Police Department, yesterday was named a temporary janitor at the Court House.

He will work on the third shift and replaces William Thompson, who resigned.

Rowan said he would not oppose a motion for the upgrading of Brode, but said he would not make one to put it into effect.

Mason asked the reasons, and Rowan answered that he didn't personally feel that Brode was the man for the job.

Wilson, when asked if he would second a motion by Mason, answered that he would not enter into the issue until Rowan approved it.

So, the issue remains up in the air with Brode remaining acting chief clerk in Grade 8.

A little later in the meeting, Rowan made a motion to upgrade Paul O'Neill from mechanic helper to mechanic. It was seconded and passed unanimously.

North End Playlot Has Talent Contest

Doris Mullan, playing "Whispering Hope" on her accordion, won the talent contest held at North End Playlot and will be the entry in the intra-city talent event Thursday in Constitution Park.

Second was Kim Keith, also an accordionist and third was Barbara Hankins, pianist.

Judges were Mrs. Lucile Roder, city finance commissioner; Mrs. Edward Sokolowski and Mrs. John F. Kienhofer.

Other participants were Brenda LaFon, accordionist; Doris and Carole Mullan, pianists; Joyce Pence, pianist.

Officers of the teenage club are Margaret Bennett, president; Janet Riehl, vice president; Susan Leslie, secretary, and Gus Knierner, treasurer.

Officers of the pre-teen club are Shawn Geatz, president; Barbara Hankins, vice president; Doris Mullan, secretary, and Mark Mackert, treasurer.

County Money Deposited In 2 Local Banks

A total of $1,700,000 has been invested in two local banks by the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

Commissioner John T. Mason informed the board that after an investigation of the financial situation it was found that the local banks could give a better interest rate than would be realized from investing in U. S. Treasury notes.

The county invested over $2,000,000 last year in Treasury notes and realized approximately $36,000 interest. It was the first time the county had invested tax monies. The money which has been invested this week came from tax collections during the month.

The bulk of the money invested was placed on time deposits with the Second National Bank. The banking institution is giving two and one-half per cent interest on $1,100,000 invested and three per cent interest on $600,000 invested.

The balance of the money, $200,000 was placed on time deposits with the Cumberland Savings Bank at two and one-half per cent interest.

Commissioner John J. Rowan requested that it be placed in the minutes of the board that the work of Commissioner Mason in handling the investment program for the county not only last year but this year also was excellent and that he is commended for his action in putting the county's tax monies "to work".

Clear Weather Is Predicted For Weekend

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Clearing weather is expected in West Virginia Saturday and Sunday following severe thunderstorms that hit the Mountain State Thursday night.

The U.S. Weather Bureau says it will be fair with moderate temperatures Saturday and Sunday with showers predicted Monday. The heavy rains of Thursday were accompanied by lightning and winds up to 40 miles an hour which lashed portions of southern West Virginia.

One man, Arch E. Durham Jr., 40, of nearby Elkview, was stunned when knocked down by a bolt of lightning.

Rainfall measured 1.77 inches at Huntington in a 12-hour period from 7 p. m. Thursday to 7 a. m. Friday and 1.58 inches at Charleston. Lesser amounts were reported elsewhere.

The high winds knocked down some power lines and uprooted small trees. Power rushing off hillsides slowed traffic to a crawl when it temporarily flooded highways and streets.

Hampshire Co. Defeats Vote On School Levy

ROMNEY—The special election on a supplemental levy on Hampshire County School taxes failed Thursday when the required plurality was not met.

The final count Friday shows 1,044 voters were for the special levy, while 990 were against.

Under state law in order to qualify for additional state aid under this supplemental levy, 60 per cent those voting must approve it. The figures yesterday amounted to 51.4 per cent.

There was a misconception among some that the levy would have doubled all county taxes. Board of Education spokesmen have pointed out that it would have only doubled the school tax so that much more in state aid could be obtained to alleviate crowded classrooms.

Homemakers Fair Committees Meet

OAKLAND — The county Fair committee of the Homemakers clubs will meet July 5 at 7:30 p. m. D.S.T., with the Home Arts Superintendent Mrs. Kenneth Ridder, and club fair chairmen who are planning to demonstrate at the Fair.

Keeping 'K' Out Of The Campaign

Soviet Premier Khrushchev's frequent admonitions on the U.S. Presidential election are beginning to arouse serious concern in both major parties as well as in non-political circles. Even before his transparent postponement of a summit conference for six or eight months—or until after the November balloting—Khrushchev had been franker than diplomacy recommends in his opinions of U.S. policies and individuals, notably in his dislike of doing business with the late Secretary of State Dulles.

But his remarks since the abortive Paris Summit have come, in the opinion of Secretary of State Herter, "about as close to interference in the internal affairs of a country" as anything the Secretary could describe. These began with the explosive news conference of May 18.

Then in a cablegram, May 31, to four leading Democrats, including Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, Khrushchev asserted that "broad sections of the American public" and "many prominent political figures" were seriously concerned by the foreign policy of the administration. On June 4, in the midst of a long tirade against President Eisenhower, Khrushchev twice ridiculed Vice President Nixon as a candidate for President.

The Soviet Premier was back at his old strategy on June 21, when he addressed a Rumanian Communist Party congress in Bucharest. He said the Soviet Union was looking to the American people to elect a President who would correct the mistakes of the Eisenhower administration.

Adlai E. Stevenson has suggested that both parties' candidates for President agree in advance to keep Khrushchev out of the campaign. Democrats in particular have an almost traumatic desire to keep Mr. K out of the debate, for Democratic candidates were hurt in 1952 and 1956 by charges of being "soft on Communism."

And yet, one wonders how any question, no matter how irrelevant or even ridiculous, can be kept out of a campaign once somebody has labeled it as an "issue."

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The World To Come

It is not too often that a novel excites me. Usually, if it is a good story, well-written, one can find some interest or stimulation. Life itself is usually more interesting than the best novels. It is sometimes fascinating to watch three or four lives move across the screen of existence, each one scheming and plotting to no particular purpose, to achieve no notable end except to enrich a lawyer or an undertaker. Almost anyone's life can produce a novel, an episode. Few lives are worth the effort involved in writing about them.

However, Constantine FitzGibbon, of whom I had not heard before, has written "When the Kissing Had to Stop," which is different. It is something of the order of Bellamy's "Looking Backward" but more interesting and more mature. FitzGibbon had more to look back upon, namely the conquest of Great Britain by Soviet Russia—a conquest achieved without firing a shot. It was soft, pudgy Englishmen and sentimental Irishmen who made it possible. FitzGibbon had some 15 countries to study to establish for him how the job could be done in Great Britain. His plotting is perfect.

All those who serve Russia's purpose are in the end politically liquidated and what remains for them is the memory of errant lives and betrayal. At no point, however, is FitzGibbon preachy or doctrinaire. He is not instructing the reader. He tells his story; he paints his portraits; he moves his characters across their chosen stages. He does not write their obituaries; they do that for themselves.

As one reads this book, he must ask himself, how men can be so stupid—how can good men be so stupid—but reality is that many competent and successful men are extraordinarily stupid when they are touched by sentimentality or prejudice. How many men who have acquired millions of dollars have brains enough to do anything worth while with their money while alive or provide sensibly for its distribution after death? The usual pattern is for the rich man to become sentimental over something, kith or kin, or an institution for the preservation of red cats. All that is necessary is to find a willing executor of the estate and a conniving lawyer—both of whom will become rich out of the deal. The slave to money dies and that is the end of the tale.

So it is with many of FitzGibbon's characters who, having accumulated a number of ideas, lack the philosophic and historical background to safeguard themselves from jumping off into the abyss of half-baked sentiments. Great Britain is conquered because noble spirits, liberal minds, are opposed to the use by their country of bombs and missiles. They insist that their friends, the Americans, leave their country and they turn to their enemies, the Russians, who operate not through troops but through a political party, the Communist Party.

But none of this would have happened were it not that the sturdy morality of middle-class England had been destroyed by post-World War II sophistication. FitzGibbon does not discuss this, because he is not a polemicist; he is a story-teller. But he paints portraits that are almost identifiable in dozens of personalities. One of his noblest characters, the most British personality in his galaxy, is a British banker who is simultaneously a Jew and a Roman Catholic and who continues to the end to fight the Communists from the hills of Wales. He is the last idealist.

This novel is worth more than billions of words of arguments, debates and polemics. It tells a story completely as though it had happened and its author had been a witness. It tells it as an intelligent eye-witness might have written it down for all to note. And, of course, if Great Britain is ever conquered by the Soviet Universal State, it will be done just about as this account gives it in advance. The blueprint is here.

Fantastic! Nothing is fantastic in this changing world. Who would ever have believed that a Japanese government would withdraw its hospitality from an American President at the instigation of a Chinese Communist Agent? To anyone who has lived in Japan, such a prospect would have been unthinkable, but it happened.

Constantine FitzGibbon's "When the Kissing Had to Stop" is not beyond belief. And it makes good reading, besides.

Above And Beyond The Call Of Duty

Senate Committee's Report Discredits Nation

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Has the "prestige" of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee "reached a new low"? The Senate has just been given a report on the U-2 affair which in part is concurred in by some of its members, while others dissent. It lacks co-ordination and consistency. Ten Senators — all of them Democrats, including Senator Kennedy — officially put themselves on record as implying that the President should have lied to the world. Six Republicans and one Democrat insist that it was absolutely necessary for the President to tell the truth.

The same committee's chairman, Senator J. William Fulbright, Democrat of Arkansas, after presenting the report to the Senate, alleges that the administration is lying now about certain aspects of the incident. In a speech to the Senate, he says:

"We are told that this particular flight was in a special category, that it was seeking information of extraordinary importance which might not be available later. However, we are not told, even under conditions of the utmost secrecy, what that information was. In view of the sensitivity of some of the other things we were told, this reticence on the part of the Executive Branch raises the question of whether the information sought on May 1 was in fact as important as it has been represented. There is ground here for the conclusion that the alleged extraordinary importance of this information is the administration's cover story for its own costly mistake."

To accuse one's own government of lying to a Senate committee doesn't seem to bother the Senator, who, in the same speech, also declares that President Eisenhower should have refused to take responsibility for the U-2 business and, instead, should somehow have evaded the truth. For, while Mr. Eisenhower did not really know in advance of the particular flight on May 1, he did give general authorization in advance and said so to the American people and the world.

Yet Chairman Fulbright says to the Senate:

"The gravest mistake was made when the President assumed responsibility for the flight."

Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Frank Lausche of Ohio, Democrat, in a separate report concurred in by five Republican Senators, rebutted this same point as follows:

"Conditions following the May 1 flight having developed as they did, it was unavoidable for the President to make a statement with regard to it. If he had to make a statement, he had to state the truth. Moreover, if he had not told the truth by avoiding personal responsibility, the four demands Khrushchev made upon him in Paris would not have been altered."

But what is puzzling are the contradictions in the main report, which frankly says that "the sort of information provided by the U-2 is of enormous value in assessing Soviet capability to mount a surprise attack," and then argues later on as follows:

"In looking back, if one accepts the conclusion that the failure of the mission furnished an excuse for Khrushchev's wrecking of the 'summit' conference, then, in the absence of compelling reasons to the contrary, there is good reason to conclude that the flight

POLITICAL GOLF—Rep. Leslie Arends, of Illinois, has risen to the position of Republican whip of the House by means of hard work and a winning personality. The little-understood post is one of great responsibility, as he is the person who knows where the votes are on close and important legislative issues.

However, "Les" hasn't let his political career interfere with his golf game. He shoots in the high 70s and low 80s. Being a personal friend of President Eisenhower, he frequently golfs with the chief executive.

At a recent picnic honoring Arends, Vice President Richard Nixon disclosed that Les beats the President regularly, which is considered lese majesty in some circles. However, the diplomatic Nixon continued, "Of course, he beats me worse."

THE LADIES — A politician, running for office this autumn, noted that more women smoke than vote and added wistfully that he hoped Madison Avenue would do something about changing the totals. Not that he's against cigarettes, but he feels that women's powerful influence in politics could be further enhanced to the good of the country generally.

Rep. Frank Thompson, New Jersey Democrat, noted that women were given the vote 40 years ago. "The world has not come to an end as the prophets who opposed suffrage for women predicted," he said. "The disaster they foresaw has not occurred nor will it if the women the voters have sent to Congress are samples of what we are to expect in the future."

Thompson noted that there are more women than men in the nation's population and cautioned other politicians to give serious thought to their attitudes toward issues of the day.

You guessed it, he was talking to a women's group!

Tetanus Toxoid Boosters Preserve Immunity

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

In the days when horses were common, tetanus (lockjaw) antitoxin was given to everyone who was hurt on the street or in an alley. This was necessary because street dust invariably was contaminated with tetanus spores. Nowadays we are a bit more lenient in that the vaccine is not given after every slight scratch or injury sustained at work or play.

The advisability of using the tetanus vaccine depends upon the locality and the circumstances in which the laceration occurred. This protection always is suggested after a puncture, or deep wound, as well as those caused by firecrackers and toy pistols. Wounds that bleed freely or are easily cleaned are less likely to become contaminated with the spores. If there is any doubt, insist upon a protective shot. The least that can be done is to wash every cut or abrasion thoroughly with soap and water.

Most children and younger adults are partially protected from lockjaw because of the tetanus toxoid shots given along with other immunizations. All they need is a booster dose to bring up their immunity to fighting strength. The wise parent will keep track of the children's immunity because booster doses are needed from time to time.

Tetanus toxoid is a must for soldiers, stock raisers, and farmers because the tetanus bacillus is a normal inhabitant of the intestine of ruminants, horses, and most domestic animals. The spores have been found also in human excreta. The passing of the horse in cities has not eliminated tetanus.

We rely upon prophylaxis because the few who develop the disease go through the tortures of hell. They develop painful spasms of the muscles of the neck, face, and jaw. One out of five afflicted children die and the rate is much higher in adults.

Photographers Staged 'Sitdown', Refused To Take Ike's Pictures

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Press photographers accompanying Ike on his Far East trip staged a sit-down strike in Honolulu. Their truck, which is supposed to precede the Presidential car in order to take action shots en route, was pulled far ahead so that photography was impossible. This followed another incident in Seoul, Korea, when the President ordered his driver to bypass the two photo trucks. So when the Presidential caravan pulled into Marine headquarters outside Honolulu and the photographers were supposed to shoot the President's arrival, the cameramen simply sat down. No bulbs flashed. No shutters clicked. . . . There's nothing Jim Hagerty prizes more than good photographic coverage of the President. So next day when Ike went out to play golf, the White House attitude was different. The photographers were allowed to stay as long as they wanted, snap all the shots they pleased. . . . The Storer Broadcasting Company has taken exception to a recent column regarding the trips taken on the Storer yacht and the Storer airplane by ex-FCC Chairman John Doerfer, and the reported "contribution" of its plane to the GOP Truth Squad in 1952 and 1956. Storer advises that the yacht Lazy Girl was the personal property of George B. Storer and he has never taken a tax deduction for the expense of its operation. Storer also advises that the Republican Senatorial Committee paid Storer $4,500 for its 20-day use of the Storer plane in 1956, plus gasoline, oil, and other expenses. This income was reported on the company's income tax returns. Delighted to know that Storer Broadcasting operated so ethically. . . . Storer also states that its entertainment of Chairman Doerfer on the yacht Lazy Girl and the Storer airplane were not to curry favor with a government official. The White House seemed to hold differently. It requested Doerfer's resignation.

Kennedy vs. Johnson

Sen. Jack Kennedy sent one of his agents out to the Governors' Conference to publicize a private poll of Democratic governors supposed to show Kennedy's strength. But the poll backfired. It showed Lyndon Johnson ahead. Including Gov. Jimmy Davis of Louisiana and Gov. Ernest Hollings of South Carolina who are for Johnson but weren't polled. Lyndon had 13 of the Democratic governors. After that, Kennedy's man bent his energies toward keeping the poll out of the papers. He pretty well succeeded. Johnson was so sore at the blackout he threatened to buy an ad in the newspapers. . . . Says comedian Mort Sahl: "Kennedy is trying to buy the country and Nixon is trying to sell it. These two boys should get together."

. . . Texas judges Marvin Jones of the Court of Claims and Eugene Worley of the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals were testifying before the Senate Public Works Committee regarding their need of larger quarters and their plan to tear down some of the historic buildings on Lafayette Square for a new court building. Remarked Senator Gruening of Alaska: "Do you not think that its is rather striking that two judges from Texas should be troubled by a lack of space?" Replied Judge Jones:

People's Capitalism

By Leslie Gould

In today's article on Japan from which he recently returned, Leslie Gould reports on the widespread interest in securities in the island nation.

Like everything else in Japan in the last few years, the stock market has had a phenomenal boom. A better than one thousand percent rise in values in the last 10 years. In the last two years prices have more than doubled.

In contrast to this, the American market has had a 329 percent rise in the last 10 years—its greatest boom—and at the highs of this year was up about 58 percent from the levels of 1958.

The rise has been so spectacular that there are some in Japan who have misgivings as to the continuance of the boom as there are some here.

These misgivings were before the failure of the Kishi Government to control the Communist-inspired and engineered student rioting. That has put a further damper on outside optimism as to the immediate course of the Japanese economy and its ability to attract badly needed capital.

Stock markets are made by confidence and the uncontrolled rioting has shaken this confidence. Unfortunately the riots also have stimulated boycotts of Japanese goods here. This is playing the Communist game, for the one aim of Red China and Russia is to neutralize and, eventually, take over Japan. They recognize that Japan is the major bulwark against the further spread of Communism in Asia, as Germany is in Europe.

What has happened in the Japanese securities markets in the last decade should allay some of these misgivings. Japan, even more rapidly than the U. S., has developed a people's capitalism.

There are more than 10 million stockholders, but allowing for duplications the actual number may be closer to four million. This, for a country of 93 million people crowded into a land area less than the state of California, and with much lower living standards, is remarkable.

It is particularly so, when it is considered that public stock ownership was virtually non-existent prior to the war.

U. S. stockholders number 12½ million, in a $500 billion economy vs. $32 million for Japan.

Pre-war Japan industry was controlled by the Zaibatsus—the financial and industrial combines, such as Mitsui, Mitsubishi, Sumitomo, Yasuda and Nakajima, banks, financial institutions and the rich. Only two industries—cotton spinning and chemical—had any public stock ownership.

After the defeat and under American military occupation, the five major holding companies, under an order to disband, released 44,800,000 shares in their possession to the Holding Company Liquidation Commission. Later, 63 firms designated as holding companies turned over all shares in their possession.

The Securities Disposal Adjustment Council, set up to handle the released shares, disposed of 233 million shares in four years. In addition the War-time Financial Bank and the Japan Securities Exchange also

"Maybe we have to move to Alaska."

Truman's Former Friend

When True magazine asked Harry Truman for comment on its current article on George E. Allen, Ike's golfing partner, Truman wrote back: "I appreciated your sending me an advance copy of True magazine with the article about my former friend George Allen. I have no comment on it." . . . The state of Rhode Island has given recognition to Eddie Dowling, the famed actor, by naming one of its turnpikes the "Eddie Dowling Highway." Eddie was a great friend of FDR, was first to propose—through him—that Russia send the famous Bolshoi Ballet to the USA. . . . Two blows to the Great Commoner, William Jennings Bryan, author of prohibition, in the last two weeks: 1. His statue, sculpted by Gutzon Borglum, pointing an indignant finger at the Heurich Brewing Company, has just been removed to make way for the Teddy Roosevelt Bridge approach across the Potomac; 2. The block of buildings opposite the Capitol, where Bryan once lived, will be razed to make way for Sam Rayburn's Capitol beautification program. Bryan's house is now occupied by The Anti-Saloon League.

Truman's Real Choice

Vice President Nixon, shaking hands at a St. Louis Republican reception, invited the ladies to take off their shoes and relax. . . . En route home on the last leg of his Pacific trip, President Eisenhower read a "western," his favorite reading material. Ike's military aide invariably sneaks a few western novels into a brief case for the President to read on trips. . . . President Truman at the San Francisco United Nations dinner the other night, confided to friends that he is actually for Sen. Lyndon Johnson for President. He's sticking with Senator Symington of Missouri for the time being, but will switch later.

(Copyright 1960, By The Bell Syndicate)

released a tremendous number of shares.

The Zaibatsus, which in the past had financed the companies in their combines, were out of business. Industrial firms were prohibited, under a new law, from mutually possessing their shares. Financial institutions were limited to holding no more than five percent of the stock of any company.

Yet, her industry had to have new capital to rebuild the war-damaged plants and to build new factories for modern-day Japan. The answer was public stock ownership. A securities act, patterned after the American SEC, was adopted in 1948 and the exchanges at Tokyo, Osaka and Nagoya were re-opened the next year.

There followed the greatest stock market boom anywhere. Daily trading volume on the Tokyo Exchange went from 1,701,000 shares in 1950 to 70,906,000 shares last year, and total value of all stocks listed went from 116.6 billion yen ($32.9 million) to 3,678 billion yen ($10.2 billion) this year.

The aggregate capital of the firms listing their shares went from 86.1 billion yen ($23.2 million) to 1,556.5 billion yen ($4.3 billion) this year.

There are 547 securities firms, with 99 members of the Tokyo Exchange, but four do 70 percent of the business. The "Big Four" are Nomura, Nikko, Yamachi and Daiwa.

These houses rival any in the U. S. with modern offices, electronic boards, Remington Rand calculators, nationwide teletype and shortwave for relaying daily quotations.

Nomura has a million customers on its books.

There are mutual and closed-end investment trusts as well as monthly investment plans—called "Money Building Clubs." Under the last, there are six plans for investors, starting with 2,000 yen ($5½) to 10,000 yen ($28). The average investment is 8,000 yen ($22). In the U. S. the monthly investment plan is $40 a month or a quarter.

One of the features of stock selling is the revival by Nomura of the old fashioned "senryo bako". In the old days these were chests containing a thousand pieces of gold. Today's adaptation is a "hyakuman ryo" savings box, where investors put small change—5 to 10 yen—and when 5,000 yen ($14) is accumulated, the money is invested in stocks.

For foreign investors, for whom there are restrictions as to withdrawal of capital and dividends, Nomura warns:

"But one thing we want to make absolutely clear. Japan holds no interest for the fly-by-night investor. Only for the man who can look ahead—is quite willing to wait as long as seven years to get his capital back."

NEXT: Japanese taxes, as in the U. S., are high. But there's a big difference in the realistic approach to business and living deductions.

Pirates Win In Tenth, 4-3; Orioles Whip Chisox, 4-0

Dick Stuart's Hit Defeats Los Angeles

Clemente Races All The Way Home From First To Win Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Dick Stuart singled to right field and Roberto Clemente raced all the way home from first base to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers in the 10th inning Friday night.

The Pirates went to bat in the last of the 10th on the short end of a 3-2 score which the Dodgers had fashioned on Charlie Neal's homer in that frame. With one out, Joe Christopher doubled to center and Larry Sherry relieved starter Johnny Podres. Dick Stuart flied out and then Clemente, with an 0-2 count, changed bats and chopped a single behind second, beating the throw to first with Christopher scoring the tying run.

Stuart, the hero Thursday night when he drove in seven runs with three homers to give the Pirates a victory over the San Francisco Giants in the second game of a two-nighter, dropped his single to right.

Green Is Victor

Podres, who appeared to have edged Vernon Law in a pitching duel, pitched 9 1-3 innings and gave up seven hits in bidding for his seventh win. Law, trying for his 12th triumph, gave way to Fred Green in the 10th and the southpaw picked up credit for his fourth victory.

The Pirates have won all seven extra-inning games in which they have played this season, with Clemente playing a key role in four of them.

John Roseboro's homer in the seventh with Frank Howard aboard enabled the Dodgers to draw even with the Pirates, who had scored their first two runs in the sixth on a bases-loaded single by Gino Cimoli.

Dodgers Take Lead

There was one out in the 10th when Neal got his seventh homer to put the Dodgers into a temporary lead. Maury Wills followed with a double. Podres struck out and Giamatti walked when Pirates Manager Danny Murtaugh yanked Law in favor of Green.

Cards Win First Game In Tenth

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — John Giamatti's two-out single only inches fair down the first base line drove in the winning run in the 10th inning Friday night to give the St. Louis Cardinals an 8-7 victory over the Milwaukee Braves in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

The Cardinals had blown a 7-0 lead before they finally managed to pull the three-hour, 40-minute game out of the fire.

Milwaukee pushed across three runs in the ninth to tie the score at 7-7 and send the game into extra innings.

Gratton, Wolfe, Rokisky Battle For Golf Crown

CCC Tourney Ends Sunday; Pro-Am Is Scheduled July 4

Joseph Gratton

John Rokisky

Matches today and Sunday will determine the championship in the 38th spring handicap golf tournament at the Cumberland Country Club.

George Joseph Wolfe, the well-known basketball official, softball player and golfer, is the defending champion and must win two matches to retain the title.

Today Wolfe is slated to play John Rokisky, the one-time All-America griddler from Duquesne University, in a championship fight semi-final.

The winner opposes Joe Gratton, owner of the Ford Motor Company agency here, a newcomer to golf and the Cumberland Country Club, in the finals on Sunday. Gratton came here from Florida where he was a member of the LaGorce Country Club.

Gratton became a finalist when he eliminated Ed Mattingly and George Petras, two former spring champions, and William Claus. Rokisky disposed of Clifton Van Roby and Jerome Ellenson to reach the semi-finals. Wolfe defeated George Garlitz, 1957 spring champion, and Dr. William T. Allman.

Spring tournaments were started at the Country Club in 1920 and the winningest member has been Dr. Karl P. Heintz who has copped five titles, the last in 1954. Peter E. Berry was a four-times winner.

St. Won Two In Row

If Wolfe can repeat as champion he will have performed a feat credited to six other players in 38 years. Russell Ponton, George Werkmeister, Martin Tenney, Jr., Arthur B. Gibson, Peter E. Berry and Dr. Heintz won the title two years in succession.

Winners in seven of the eight other flights have been decided and they are as follows:

FIRST — Bob Robinette. SECOND — John Tucker Mason. FOURTH — Allen Tyler. FIFTH — Vernon Wade. SIXTH — Harold Marx. SEVENTH — Ronnie Slough. EIGHTH — Merrill Barnes. Mason defeated L. W. Brown in the second flight final this week, 1 up on the 18th, and Slough won the seventh by downing Paul Owens, 3 and 2. Dr. Paul Castelle will play Claf Hater in the third flight final.

Pro-Am Set Monday

The Men's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club will hold a pro-amateur and flag tournament on Monday, July 4.

The women's golf team of the local club will play host to the North Fork Country Club team of Joustown, Pa., on Tuesday.

Yanks Eye Snider

NEW YORK (UPI) — Casey Stengel admitted Friday night the New York Yankees would like to get veteran outfielder Duke Snider from the Los Angeles Dodgers but said "there isn't much chance" because waivers can not be obtained.

Stengel was commenting on a story by Dick Young in the New York Daily News that Snider himself had said the Yankees were trying to land him.

"OH! SAY, CAN YOU SEE.."

The flag which inspired Key during bombardment is now in the U.S. National Museum at Washington.

"The Star-Spangled Banner," theme song of Independence Day, was written in a time of great national crisis. American fortunes in the War of 1812 were at a low ebb. The capital had fallen to the British. Its most important buildings had been burned, and on Sept. 13, 1814, the British fleet was preparing to attack Fort McHenry defending Baltimore.

That day, Francis Scott Key, a Washington lawyer, had gone aboard the British flagship in an effort to secure the release of a friend who had been taken prisoner. Key was not allowed to leave the fleet until the bombardment of the fort was over.

From a small American vessel which had taken him to the flagship, Key watched the shelling through the night. At dawn on September 14 he saw the American flag still waving defiantly over Fort McHenry. At that moment, he said, his heart spoke and he asked himself, "Does not such a country and such defenders of their country deserve a song?"

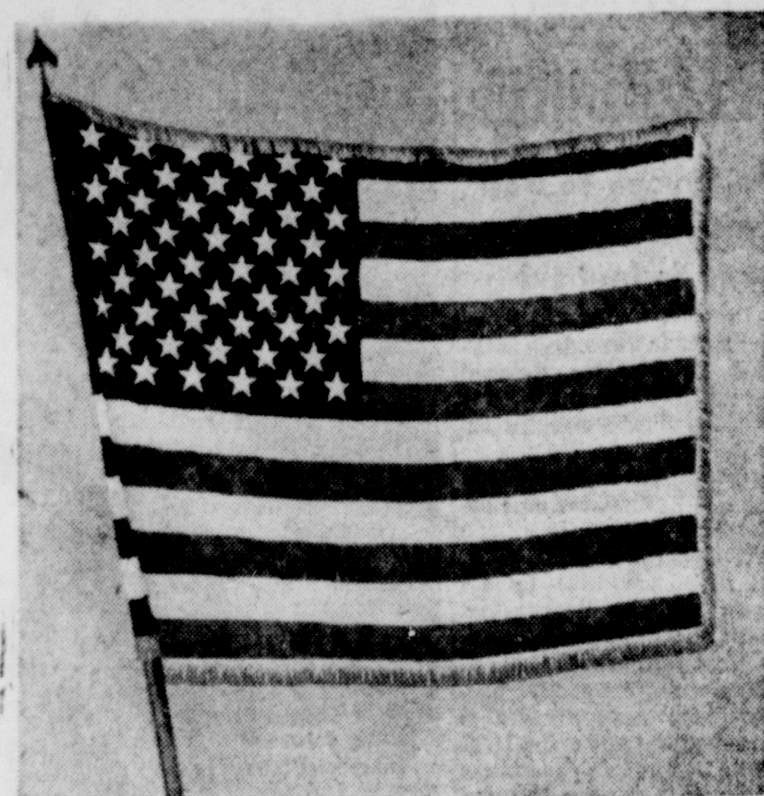

He started to write the first words of "The Star-Spangled Banner" as the British ended their attack. On his return to Baltimore, he added lines to his poem. The first dated publication of the poem, under the title, "Defense of Fort McHenry" appeared Sept. 20 in the Baltimore Patriot. Shortly after, the title was changed to "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The popularity of "The Star-Spangled Banner" was immediate. By 1861, it had taken first rank among our national songs, but it was not until 1931 that Congress voted it our national anthem.

Fort McHenry this year takes on added significance. On July 4, the new 50-star flag will be raised there officially for the first time.

By the dawn's early light, Francis Scott Key, top, sees Old Glory still waving over Fort McHenry.

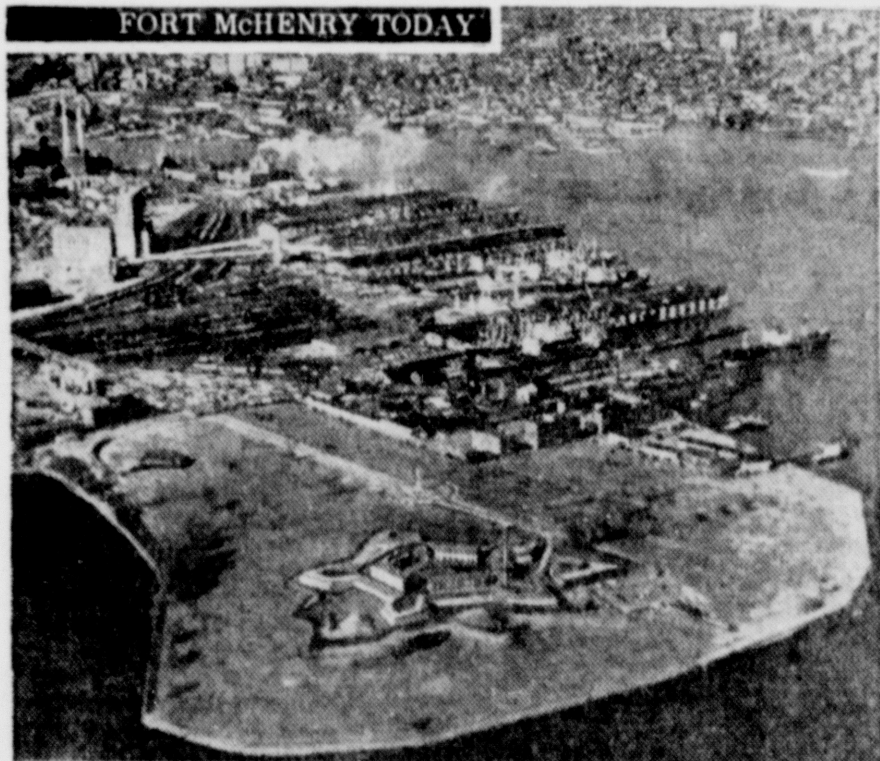

The new 50-star flag which will be raised officially for the first time at Fort McHenry on July 4.

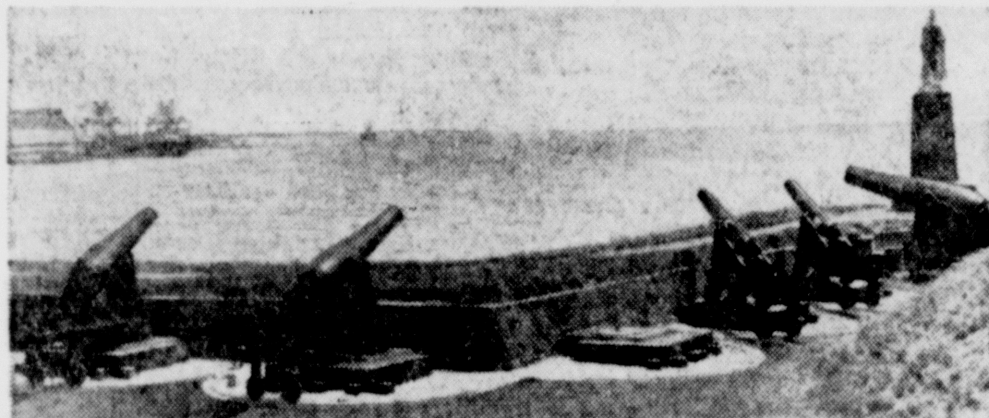

Flag flies 24 hours a day over grave of Francis Scott Key in Mount Olivet Cemetery, in Frederick, Md.

In Memoriam

In memory of Mrs. Lulu V. Silvious who passed away 4 years ago July 2, 1956.
The memory is with us today, as it was with us 4 years ago today.
Nobody knows our loss, but few have seen us weep.
But deep in our hearts lies a picture of a loved one laid to rest.
In memory's frame we shall keep it
As she was one of the best.
Her helping hand to those in need
But God knew best so he called her home to rest.
The link that death cannot sever is the love and memory that will live forever.

To Building Fund

WESTERNPORT — The Volunteer Bible Class of the Church of the Brethren authorized a donation of $200 to the church building fund at their regular meeting recently.

The meeting was opened by Delsie Combs and Chester Shiner with prayer and scripture.

Rev. Levi Ziegler, pastor, taught the third lesson on "The Art of Counseling."

Plans were made for a lawn social to be held on the church grounds Thursday, July 14.

Bertha Hackett, Effie Fordyce and Delsie Combs were hostesses at the meeting.

Fruit spraying to protect crops was introduced in 1878.

Baltimore Pike Crash Injures Serviceman

Parkersburg Youth Is Hospitalized

A 19-year-old serviceman, headed toward his Parkersburg, W. Va., home from Fort Meade, sustained severe head lacerations in a three-vehicle accident which occurred on Baltimore Pike at Knight's Garage about 7 o'clock last night.

The injured youth was identified as Stephen Marks. He was brought to Sacred Heart Hospital in an Astor ambulance from the scene, about five miles east of Cumberland. He was in "fair" condition.

A companion, George Rinehart, 27, Waynesburg, Pa., also stationed at Fort Meade, was bruised in the accident. He was examined at the hospital dispensary and released.

State Trooper Kenneth W. Messmer, who was still continuing his investigation last night, placed one of the three drivers, Basil Lee Grogg, 51, of RFD 1, Hancock, in the Allegany County Jail.

Trooper Messmer reported that Grogg, who was driving east on Route 40, was driving on the wrong side of the road when the accident occurred. His car first struck Marks' westbound automobile and forced the latter's car into an approaching tractor-trailer driven by William George Albright, 30, RFD 1, Salisbury, Pa. The truck also was headed west.

Both Grogg and Albright were uninjured.

The injured serviceman sustained multiple lacerations and a possible concussion.

All occupants escaped injury late yesterday afternoon when a car struck a truck broadside at the intersection of Laine and Virginia avenues.

The accident occurred at 4:35 p. m. when a car driven by Jacob L. Parrill, Paw Paw, W. Va., hit a truck driven by Maurice W. Rice, 209 Mary Street.

Three passengers in the car and one riding in the bed of the truck, also escaped injury. The driver of the car was charged with failing to grant the right of way.

Officers William A. Norris and J. A. Brown investigated and Officer Carl Williams, who passed the crash on his way home, helped direct traffic.

Small Boy Hit By Car

A six-year-old visitor from Albuquerque, N. M., was admitted to Memorial Hospital after running into the path of an approaching car in the vicinity of 22 Pennsylvania Avenue about 9 o'clock last night.

The boy, Johnnie Blizard, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blizard, chased a ball between two parked cars, according to Police Officer William Norris. The child apparently sustained head injuries and was being kept overnight for observation.

Young Blizard was struck by an automobile driven by Andrew Lewis, 504 Maryland Avenue. Mr. Lewis immediately drove the injured boy to the hospital.

Pepper Delegate To NEA Meeting

Roy E. Pepper of Midlothian, president of the Allegany County Teachers Association, was a delegate to the 96th annual convention of the National Education Association which closed last night in Los Angeles.

Mr. Pepper, seventh grade teacher at Beall Elementary and Junior High School, has been a delegate to the general and business meetings at the convention, and participated in a conference for local association presidents.

He and his wife and daughter will return to the East by jet plane, and will arrive home tomorrow.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest N. Screen Jr., Baltimore, announce the birth of a daughter yesterday at Hospital for Women of Maryland in Baltimore. The father is the son of Ernest N. Screen Sr., 215 National Highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Newman, Mt. Savage, a daughter last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph U. Francis, RFD 2, Mt. Pleasant Road, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. David L. Datri, Christie Road, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Haines, Williams Road, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Keyes, Barton, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Otten, LaVale, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Pfeiffer, 941 Maryland Avenue, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald G. Roby, 42 Marion Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pyles, Fort Ashby, W. Va., a son Thursday.

Overrode Ike's Veto

U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall of Frostburg (left) shakes hands with other leaders of a successful bipartisan move to override President Eisenhower's veto of a 7½ per cent boost in pay for federal workers. With the Maryland Republican are (from left) Senators Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrat; Kenneth B. Keating, New York Republican, and Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina Democrat. The Senate overrode the veto, 74-24, making it only the second veto of 169 by Eisenhower to be defeated.

Shooting Victim 'Fair'; Funeral For Alt Sunday

A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow for Orville Z. Alt, 39, who police said wounded a woman in a Petersburg, W. Va., restaurant and then shot and killed himself.

The woman, Arvella Wrathford, remained in "fair" condition last night at Grant Memorial Hospital in Petersburg, where Alt died shortly after the shooting.

Police said Alt shot the woman and himself with a .22 caliber pistol at 8:50 p. m. (EST) Thursday in Jennie's Restaurant, where she worked.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. (EST) at Bethel Church of the Brethren, Petersburg, by Rev. Albert Schinzing and Rev. R. V. Simmons.

Burial will be in the Alt family cemetery at Brushy Run. The body is at the Schaeffer Funeral Home in Petersburg, and will be taken to the church Sunday at 1 p. m.

Mr. Alt was born May 28, 1921 in Grant County, a son of James Franklin and Stella Florence (Alt) Alt of Petersburg. He lived at Landess and was divorced and the father of two children.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Yvonne Alt, Petersburg; a son, Leon Alt, also of Petersburg; four sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Berg, Jordan Run, W. Va.; Mrs. Audrey Blosser, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Vada Ezick, Baltimore; and Miss Martha Alt, at home; six brothers, Kermit, Charles and Franklin, all of Baltimore; William, Petersburg, and Paul and Roger Alt, both of Landess.

He was a member of American Legion Post 78, Petersburg, and was a veteran of World War II.

Henry Wilt Clan Reunion Tomorrow

The 13th annual reunion of the Henry Wilt clan, will be held at Crystal Springs Campground, four miles south of Breezewood, Pa., on Route 126 Sunday. Mrs. Alma G. Wilt, RFD 4, Cumberland, said dinner will be served at noon and families are asked to bring basket lunches and silverware.

Identity Clarified

Donald Leslie Duckworth, 26, of 10 McKenzie Road, LaVale, reported yesterday he is not the Donald Duckworth, 27, of 16 Arch Street, who was injured in an automobile accident Monday afternoon on Oldtown Road.

Tellers for the election were Karl Bachman, L. V. Shinnamon and John F. Workmeister.

The election of 10 directors was announced yesterday by Earl D. Chaney, president of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The new directors, who will serve three-year terms, were elected in balloting which closed Thursday afternoon. They are:

The newly constituted board will meet early in July to elect officers and to begin plans on the 1960-61 program.

Closing exercises for the vacation Bible school of Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown, were held last Sunday.

Directed by Chris Snyder, the school opened June 13 with evening sessions from 7 to 9 p. m.

Rev. Harold Allen, pastor, said enrollment totaled 275 with an average attendance of 214 students.

Certificates were presented to 128 children who attended eight or more sessions and 92 were awarded perfect attendance certificates.

Total attendance at the school was 2,140. Attendance at a similar school five years ago totaled 610.

Cub Scouts Compete In Fishing Contest

Members of Cub Scout Pack 23, sponsored by the John Humbird School PTA, participated in a recent fishing contest at the Everts Creek community pond.

Prizes were won by Eddie Whitaker, for catching first fish; Eddie Shaffer, for catching the largest fish; and Francis Durbin, for catching the most fish.

Planning and supervision was provided by a committee including James Riley, William Kunis, Jack Lewis, Ernest Combs and Thomas Kimmell.

Library To Close At Noon Today

The main branch of the Allegany County Library here will close at noon today for the Independence Day holiday weekend, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Tawes Assures Kennedy Of State's Support

Senator Visits Ailing Governor

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy got a personal "we'll stick with you" assurance Friday from Gov. J. Millard Tawes, leader of Maryland's 24-vote delegate to the Democratic National Convention.

The Massachusetts senator spent 30 minutes with Tawes, who has been recovering from an abdominal operation, at the governor's mansion here.

Odell M. Smith, the governor's press aide, said Kennedy's visit was "primarily a social call, but politics did crop up in the conversation, of course."

Smith noted that Tawes last Tuesday, attempting to dispel reports that Maryland will switch from Kennedy after the first convention ballot, said the delegation will stick with Kennedy "unless the storm signals are showing."

The press aide said Tawes told Kennedy today, "We'll stick with you as long as you have a chance to win the nomination."

"Governor, I appreciate that very much," Smith said Kennedy replied. "You don't know how much I appreciate it."

Supporters of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), regarded as the closest immediate threat to the front-running Kennedy, had mentioned Maryland as one of the states expected to dump Kennedy after the first ballot.

Tawes said Tuesday there was no plan to switch the state's delegation. He noted Kennedy won the May 17 Maryland primary over Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) by a record-breaking margin and said any automatic switch while Kennedy is still in the fight "would leave us open to criticism."

After Kennedy's departure for Washington, Tawes and his wife left for a weekend cruise on Chesapeake Bay aboard the Maryland state yacht, Sea Level.

June Marriages Exceed Level Of Last Year

For the first time this year more marriage licenses were issued last month than in the corresponding month of 1959 in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

June, traditionally a month for a large number of marriages, had a total of 268, two more than were distributed in June 1959. Despite the good showing in the month which ended Thursday, the total of 1,099 for the first half of 1960 is 150 and 12.1 per cent under the 1,249 recorded in the first six months a year ago.

Last year July proved to be the peak marriage month with 294. Whether the new month starting today can match that pace remains to be seen.

The monthly totals, with the 1959 figure listed first in each case.

January — 180 and 151; February — 201 and 149; March — 189 and 159; April — 215 and 175; May — 198 and 197; June — 268 and 268.

Bible School Ends At Cresaptown

Closing exercises for the vacation Bible school of Calvary Baptist Church, Cresaptown, were held last Sunday.

Directed by Chris Snyder, the school opened June 13 with evening sessions from 7 to 9 p. m.

Rev. Harold Allen, pastor, said enrollment totaled 275 with an average attendance of 214 students.

Certificates were presented to 128 children who attended eight or more sessions and 92 were awarded perfect attendance certificates.

Total attendance at the school was 2,140. Attendance at a similar school five years ago totaled 610.

Cub Scouts Compete In Fishing Contest

Members of Cub Scout Pack 23, sponsored by the John Humbird School PTA, participated in a recent fishing contest at the Everts Creek community pond.

Prizes were won by Eddie Whitaker, for catching first fish; Eddie Shaffer, for catching the largest fish; and Francis Durbin, for catching the most fish.

Planning and supervision was provided by a committee including James Riley, William Kunis, Jack Lewis, Ernest Combs and Thomas Kimmell.

Tractor Overtakes; Stringtown Boy Hurt

John Kendall, 17, of Stringtown, Pa., was reported last night in "satisfactory" condition at Memorial Hospital, where he was brought Thursday night after a farm tractor overturned as he was operating it along Pennsylvania State Route 96 near Ellerslie.

The boy was pinned beneath the overturned tractor and was brought to the hospital by a relative. The Corriantville Volunteer Fire Department ambulance went to the scene but the youth already had been taken to the hospital.

Library To Close At Noon Today

The main branch of the Allegany County Library here will close at noon today for the Independence Day holiday weekend, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

Miss Walsh explained that beginning today and continuing through August the library in Cumberland will be open on Saturdays only from 9 a. m. until noon. It will reopen next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Narrow Escape

Fred Comer of Ridgeley scratches his head as he looks at a chunk of rock bigger than a baseball sticking through the windshield of his car. It got there yesterday afternoon as Mr. Comer followed a lumber truck on West Virginia Route 28 at Reed's Hill. The truck's dual wheels picked up the rock, flipped it back with enough force to pierce the windshield, but Mr. Comer was unhurt.

1961 Wheat Allotments Being Mailed

Seven Allegany Co. Farmers Qualify

Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop are being mailed to the seven Allegany County farmers who qualify, according to William L. Dudley, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Most of the allotments differ slightly from 1960 crop allotments, since the national acreage allotment remains at the minimum 55 million acres, which has been in effect for the past six years. The farm allotments are based primarily on past wheat production history.

The chairman points out that all growers who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain in 1961 will be eligible to cast ballots in the July 21 referendum on marketing quotas for the 1961 wheat crop. Growers who will have smaller acreages and those who are taking part in the feed wheat program are not eligible to cast ballots, since the wheat from such farms would not be subject to marketing quota penalties.

"The referendum will decide important questions for wheat producers," Mr. Dudley said. "And the outcome, naturally, will represent the will of those growers who take the trouble to cast their ballots." Last year, no Allegany County farmers voted.

"If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote approve the quotas, then they will be in effect for the 1961 wheat crop, marketing penalties will apply to the 'excess' wheat of growers who do not comply with their farm allotments, and price support will be available at not less than 75 per cent of parity — the exact level to be announced soon."

"If more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, there will be no quotas or penalties for the 1961 wheat crop, and price support will be available at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law. Allotments will remain in effect as a condition of price-support eligibility."

"Growers who like to make their own decisions should remember that date — Thursday, July 21 — and be sure to register their opinions by voting at the local polling place."

Courts Observe Weekend Holiday

Trial Magistrates Court and other county and state offices in the Union Street Building will be closed today, tomorrow and Monday in observance of the long weekend holiday. Court will resume the usual daily schedule on Tuesday.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt said a session of City Police Court will be held today at 9 a. m. and that a magistrate will be available if needed over the weekend. There will be no regular Police Court on Monday.

Allegany County Court House is closed today through Monday, and holiday hours will also be observed at the Post Office Monday.

Frank Dixon Ill

Frank E. Dixon, operator of the Dixon Auto Electric Company, Piedmont, and a former member of the City Council in Piedmont, last night was reported critically ill at Newton D. Baker Hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va., where he underwent surgery about 10 days ago.

Holiday To Be Busy Time For Area Highway Patrols

State Police patrols yesterday began the long grind of patrolling highways in this area in a determined effort to keep roads safe over the Independence Day holiday.

Intermittent rain and heavy traffic marked the beginning of the long weekend in this area.

If traffic in Cumberland was typical, many of the drivers got an early start.

Cumberland police spent a hectic afternoon trying to keep downtown traffic moving.

Police Chief B. F. Gaffney said eight officers were detailed to traffic duty yesterday afternoon.

He said traffic began to get heavy about noon as visitors joined the thousands of motorists who jammed the downtown area to get ready for the holidays.

LT. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale State Police barracks, said every available man was pressed into duty for the period starting yesterday at 4 p. m. and continuing through 10 a. m. Tuesday.

All personnel, he added, will be in uniform and the patrols will be made in State Police-marked vehicles. The marked cars act as deterrents to would-be speeders, LT. O'Hara explained, and are particularly effective on the major traffic arteries in the area.

LT. O'Hara appealed to all drivers to use the utmost caution while driving, adding that it would be best to take to the highway only if absolutely necessary.

All leaves have been canceled at the Bedford barracks, according to Sgt. Andrew Murafka, commander of the Pennsylvania State Police unit there. Intensified patrolling will be done on all major highways, he added, with the extra duty remaining in effect until Tuesday morning.

The Pennsylvania State Police unit at Everett likewise plans to use every available man on patrol duty, although a new program is being instituted this weekend.

The Everett detachment will have two men on leave over the weekend, it was explained, and the program will be effective for all holidays, particularly long weekends. The plan was adopted so personnel can enjoy holidays, instead of being pressed into duty. The personnel will rotate on the holidays so that each officer can look forward to time off at such periods.

West Virginia State Police began heavy patrolling of highways yesterday morning, and all Tuesday morning, officials announced.

W.Va. Drivers Use Old Tags

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Some West Virginia motorists continued to use their old license plates Friday as the result of an announcement by State Police Supt. Hazen H. Fair.

Fair told State Troopers not to bear down immediately on motorists who did not have the new 1961 white on red tags which were mandatory after midnight Thursday.

The superintendent noted that some of the license applications may have been delayed because of the recent $300,000 plus robbery at the Motor Vehicles Department.

But Motor Vehicles Commissioner J. Marshall Holcomb said no licenses have been delayed and declined to extend the deadline.

Holcomb said between 5,000 and 10,000 persons apparently had not applied for their licenses.

"As far as I am concerned," Holcomb said, "these persons are driving illegally."

This Is Rough Going

Huge boulders are being shoved aside here as the broad highway planned for State Route 36 takes shape between Corriganville and Barreilville. This view, taken about a fourth of a mile east of Barreilville, shows an S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company shovel clearing the right of way for the modern highway.

The old road, long considered one of the most treacherous stretches in Allegany County, is seen at the right. The work is being done under a $1,027,498 contract awarded early last year. It required the digging of a mile of new channel for Jennings Run, which flows beside the highway.
